the performer

"I don't really wear clothes as much as costumes," says Charlotte Kemp Muhl, 23, of her everyday look. "I've gone to the grocery store in evening gowns just because it's fun." Muhl—who is one half of the band The Ghost of a Saber Tooth Tiger, along with her boyfriend, Sean Lennon—boasts a closet brimming with pieces that look pilfered from an abandoned theater: elaborate headpieces, ethnic jewelry, Havisham-chic floppy furs and vintage nightgowns. Most everything has been picked up from a flea market in, say, Thailand or Iceland—the couple travels constantly—and Muhl even keeps a packed suitcase at the ready for when it's time to hit the road again. In it? "Lots of feathers," she jokes. "You know, the essentials." —Stenhanie Trona

"Feathers are so elegant—I'm into anything that has to do with nature."
