All About Your Mother -- 2010 Mother's Day Gift Guide

What can you possibly buy the woman who gave you life, who watched you take your first step, taught you how to read, packed your lunchbox for every day of Kindergarten, held you tight when you were having nightmares, and who still continues to offer you her undying love and support? Well, it IS the thought that counts, and your momma will love any gesture you make for Mother's Day precisely because it's coming from you, her precious child. But, if you can afford to give your queen a treasure trove of goodies, you should follow your heart and do so. After all, who could be more important, more worthy of praise and adulation than your mom?

Here, a few crowd-pleasing gift ideas ranging from fine jewelry to affordable toiletry sets and home fragrance pieces. This Mother's Day, knock momma out with your good taste!

Floating Floral Bangle, $14. Available at ShopTheLook.net

The rose buds, chain links and pearl details on this black enamel bangle remind me of the baroque designs emblazoned on vintage Gianni Versace scarves. Hey, Biggie was right about many things, but one thing he got wrong: Miami and D.C. weren't the only ones preferring Versace!
